Aleksei Nechaev
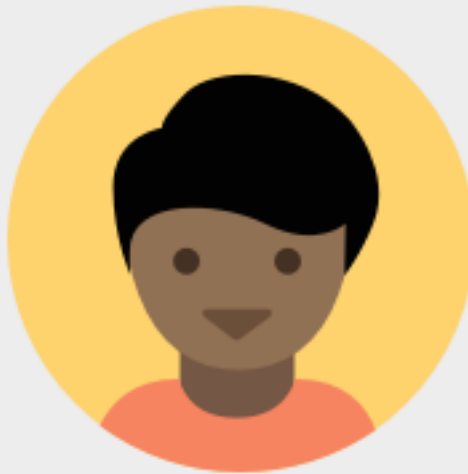

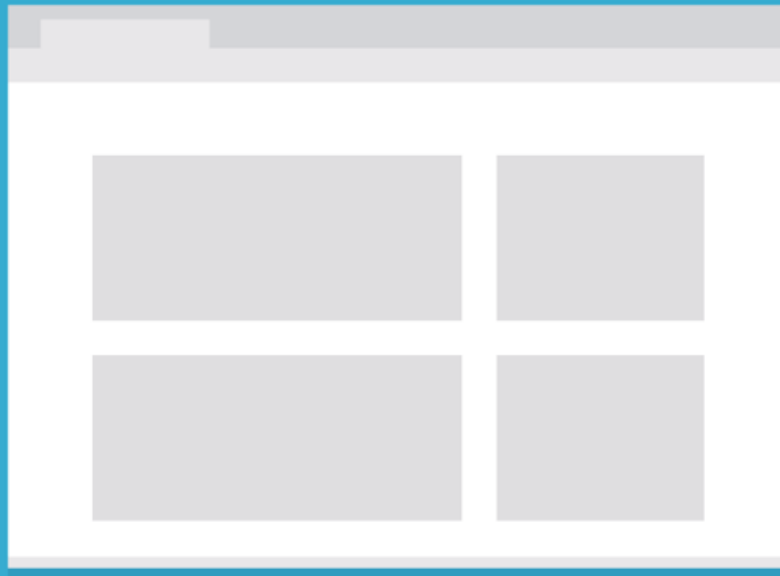

Hi! I am a front end developer who loves responsive design and css. I recently finished a degree in fornt end web development at Treehouse and am very excited to pull all my skills to use!
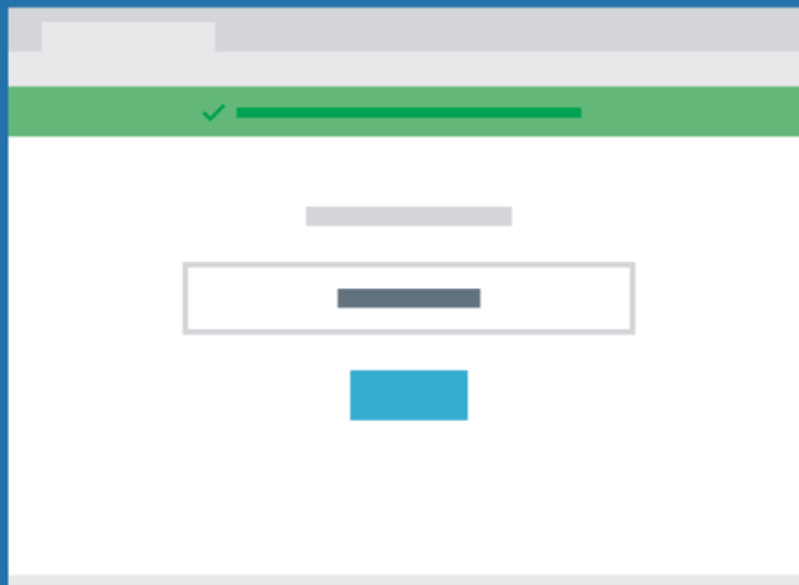

PORTFOLIO

Marketing Page

This project shows the front page of a marketing website meant for a specific business I am interested in.
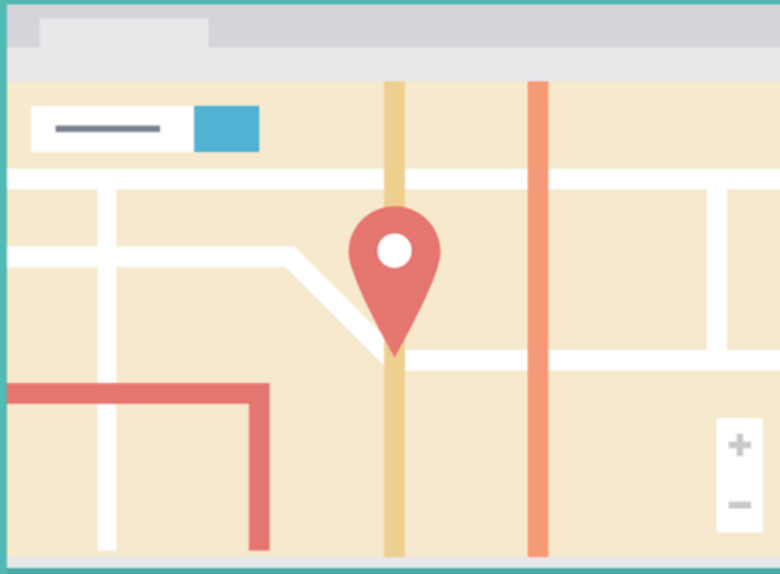

Search Page

This project searches through a specific database to find information that the user is trying to look up.

Travel App

This project compares travel times based on different transportation methods and tells you the best one.

Map of Favorite Spots

This project uses mapping apps to plot pints for my favorite sopts in the city for a do-it-yourself walking tour.
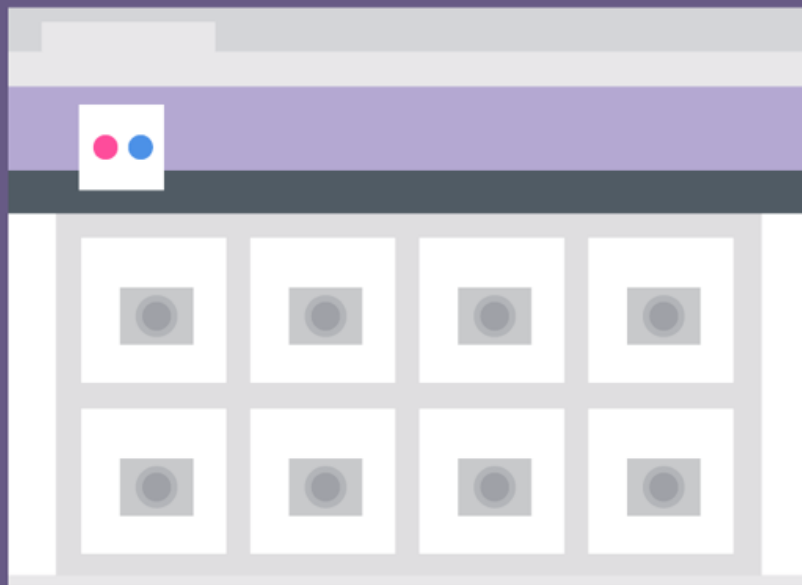

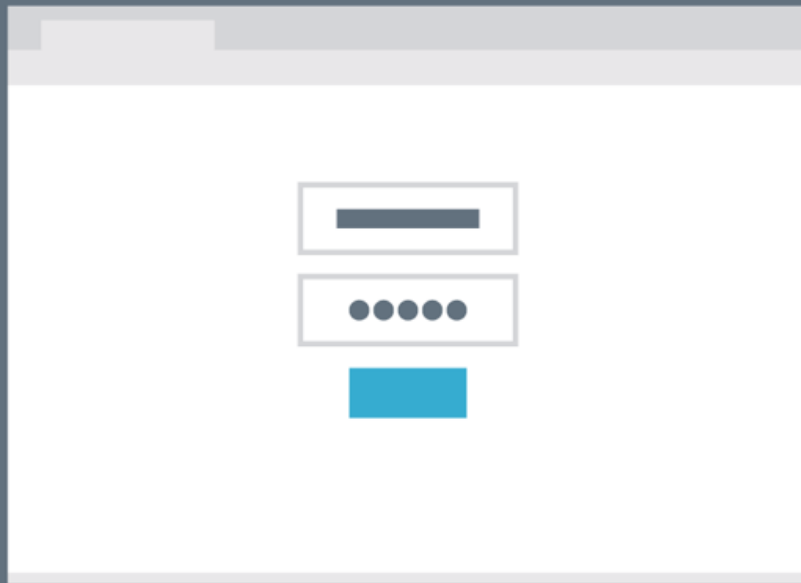

Photo Gallery

This project shows pictures from a recent trip to the viewer and allows them to easily navigate through photos.

Calculator

Someone can enter in the numbers they want, and press the big blue button and get the results.

My Goals
